

YES YOU CAN

For you I have a question...
It's no just a suggestion...
What are you going to do when people ask you,
"Are you a person for others...
Are you one of the sisters and the brothers?
Or are you just for yourself, like a book stuck on some shelf,
That nobody else will ever read, nobody will ever turn the pages and
Discover the wonder and the power of your love.
And that's not smart.
So when are you going to start
Reaching out to touch this world with your heart?

And I have something more to say...
I need your undivided attention if I may...

What are you going to do with your dream for your future...
The dream that that was planted in your soul by the creator and the universe and those who love you and that grows right next to your own family tree...?
Because how you see yourself in that dream
Will make all the difference, don't you see...

Whenever that dream becomes clear to you...
Will you say "I can't do that" ...
Well, if you do, then you will be absolutely right...
Because you won't...and that fear will shut you down...
And the dream that was given to you will, from then on,
Just be completely out of sight...

But will you be like my friend Joyce...
Who one day had such a choice...
When she was 16 years old her father said to her...
"You're going to learn how to fly an airplane" ...
And she said, "I can't do that" ...
And he said, "Yes you can" ...
And she did...
And she became the youngest and the first female pilot in the history of Canada..."YES YOU CAN".

Martin Luther King didn't have a dream...
His dream had him...
You don't have a dream for your life, your dream has you...
And will lead you to make the huge difference in this sad world for which you were created before you're through...
So I want to ask you
"Will you let these words burn into your soul and your brain and your Heart and everything about you...
"YES I CAN!"
